

ABSTRACT

A magnetic element superior in high frequency characteristics is provided that comprises magnetic ferrite having iron oxide, cobalt oxide and zinc oxide as the main ingredients, a conducting coil formed over the magnetic ferrite, an insulating material covering the conducting coil, and two or more external electrodes connected with the conducting coil.